“ Tony and Becky both were long time patients at the doctors office where I worked for 29 years. Becky would often bring me beautiful things that she had made at work. She had a true gift with florals and loved her job. I had just retired right before she passed and I remember her fear not having me there to ‘take care of them’. Tony was lost without her and missed her dearly. My husband and I would take him to dinner or I would pick him up for lunch outings. He always looked forward to my Christmas cookie tins, since I am Italian he loved all the ones I’d make. When I wasn’t able to reach him I knew something was up.... Most times he was in the hospital and I would finally reach him. This time that didn’t happen. I feel soooo bad I wasn’t aware of his death till recently. My heart is full knowing he’s with his beloved Becky once again.

“ Tony and Becky lived across the street from me. When my husband passed away two years I would look out my kitchen window and see Tony and Becky's beautiful gazebo all lit up and shining a gorgeous light in the darkness. One day I mentioned this to Tony and he told me that he only lit the gazebo for me, because I always told him it reminded me of Becky. The light from that gazebo made many a lonely evening after my husband passed more bearable. That was the wonderful man that was Tony.

I will miss that beautiful light brightening my nights. But more than that I will miss the beautiful soul that was Tony. I am only comforted by the knowledge that he and his beautiful Becky are together again.

Rest In Peace Dear Friends.

“ To the Maola family:
The Wojtek's (next door neighbor - Ed, Michelle, Ashley, Gregory, Stephanie) send our condolences and prayers on the loss of Tony. Tony (and Becky) were such great neighbors - he will be sorely missed. From our conversations about the military (our son Greg is in the Army), to the many discussions about the Catholic Church, to Tony missing Becky, to Tony sharing stories of his family - we loved Tony!!! Tony's soul can rest in peace and is now reunited with Becky!!! God bless you!

“ Tony - You will truly be missed. We enjoyed seeing both you and Becky, and we know how truly you missed her after she passed. We loved seeing you light up your gazebo (especially Sylvia Thompson), but we will miss your smiling facing and your big heart. You are now at peace with Becky by your side. Rest in Peace Tony, Rest in Peace.

With love,

Your neighbors in Glenwood... Sylvia and Bill Bain
