“ I just now learned of Dale's passing. I last heard from him in a cryptic note in February 2021. We worked shoulder to shoulder at the Victorian Manor. He was a good, reliable worker. A pleasure to be around. We shared Tom Brown's Tracker series of books together, and talked about going together to Brown's school in New Jersey. He was a deep, spiritual thinker. Realizing that I can't contact him, can't talk, can't share; I'm crushed. I hope you're finding peace, Dale.

“ We only shared a few times together as kids, he liked the Muppets when I liked the Six Million Dollar Man. Later in life we met again in Florida in the late 1900s . It is sad how we drift apart on this side while praying we all meet again on the other side.

“ I worked with Dale at Penn State and he was one of the best coworkers you have met. Always a smile and a quick joke even on the worst day he could make me laugh. He will be greatly missed.

“ Everyday coming into work I would always ask Dale how's your day going? And everyday he would give some off the wall answer. Which is what I loved most about him. I enjoyed all the laughs we shared and cleaning up after your messes. Jk..kinda haha. I'll be sure to always hide a scrubbie just for you. You were one of a kind and hold a special place in all our hearts at Redifer. Rest Easy My Friend may you feel no more pain
