“ I cherish the wonderful memories of all the cousins getting together after all our many parties. The parents never knew which kids were going home with them or which kids would be coming home with them. We all loved to spend time together. It was so much fun. David was always the man in charge of set up, food prep and serve and clean up. He knew how to do it all for sure. His food was phenomenal. We'll never forget the day he showed up in our driveway with bandana on his head, riding his motorcycle. We didn't even realize, it was David at first. What a great evening that was! He was a talker.

I wish I could wake up from this nightmare and David would still be here with all of us. The only consolation is that he's together with Mom and Dad, no pain, no sadness, no worries evermore. I know how difficult this has to be for you, Dom, Doug and Debbie, such a shock and so sudden. We pray the God will give you strength to get you through this most difficult time. You know you have the love and support of all the family and we're hear whenever you need us.

“ We have too many memories to list. From his surprise birth two days before Christmas, to his eating a chocolate cupcake with more on his face than in his mouth. He filled our hearts with joy all his life. He loved sports and was a great lefty, a devoted wrestler and loved driving his motor cycle all around Monroeville and his Mom prayed every time she knew he was on the road. He loved hunting, fishing and cooking huge pots of Maryland crabs to feed an army. He was a great chef and he catered weddings, parties, Super Bowl parties and family gatherings.

He hosted a special dinner for his Mom inviting her two sisters our husbands, her only brother and his wife and his mother's cousin he called Aunt Jean. He wanted to have this special dinner the Christmas before she passed away. He made all the food and it was delicious and memorable.

I especially enjoyed our phone calls that lasted two hours. We talked about everything from the Steelers, Pirates and Penguins to his beloved Pitt and much more.

David is gone too soon and our hearts are breaking for our loss. We know you are with your Mom, Dad, baby Sister, Grandma and Pap now and you can fill them in on the entire family.

God be with you David and Rest In Peace. We love you very much
