“ Ed, you were the best "big" brother. I could thank you for 100 years, but it wouldn't be enough, for all of your hard work and dedication to helping me do all of my house projects, like you always said..I've worked in almost every room! I will miss you tremendously, and our shenanigans ❤️

“ My deepest heart felt condolences to Mr. ED'S family. I will remember his smiling even when he was not feeling well. I will remember him visiting with Sue sitting out in the front of her house enjoying the sunshine, talking with him, and making jokes. I called him Dad for 2 years because that's how he was introduced to me by his daughter Sue. This year I finally asked his name and he told me Ed. I said to him I liked calling you Dad better because now when I call you Mr. Ed I'll think of the horse and he said, "Oh Wiber" in the horse voice and we both laughed. RWG and be at peace.

“ The first time we met Big Ed he came to Del Rio to scope out the parents of Sue’s boyfriend: our son Marshall. He walked in and after introductions were made, I caught his eyes looking over our very old home. I could read his mind as clearly as if he was verbalizing the words. “Hmm. Let’s see. First I would knock out that wall, paint that wall, different light fixtures, etc.”. He couldn’t help himself. It was just Ed using his expertise. Two days later we had a pretty significant water issue in one of our bathrooms. Waylon was a very good repair man but this issue had him stumped and a little angry at himself. Ed was sitting down enjoying his breakfast and in his usual low but matter of fact voice said “How about just put in a shut off valve above the shower head?” Waylon looked at Ed and said “S—t! Of course.” Ed just grinned and kept eating his breakfast. The rest of us were laughing our butts off. Ever since then, when Ed spoke, Waylon dang sure listened.
We loved him so much and always will. He and Waylon are up there discussing home repairs.
