“ John was a dear friend and special soul who traveled a complex journey of ups and downs. If you were lucky to encounter John on a good day, you were privileged to enjoy his quick wit and keen intellect. He was a friend of 32 years who always remembered my family and never judged me, a person who I could count on to accept me. I miss him. I miss the long conversation, the sometimes light in his eye. I miss his cryptic analysis of politics. He loved his family. I am thinking of his family and want them to know he did talk of you all with great affection.
