“ I remember working with Terry when she and I were at CCAC-Boyce Campus. I was working for the Commonwealth of Pa. and she for the school. She was vibrant and full of life. She and I shared a common frustration with our respective bureaucracies and concern for the people we tried to help. She was always there with a smile, a joke or witty comeback. She loved her church and worked to make it better. We had several deep conversations. Though we fell out of contact with each other, I will always remember her positive attitude and her fighting spirit for the good fight. She will be missed.
