“ I read in the Central Catholic alumni update that Tom (aka Fred to me and others who schooled with him through college) had passed. Like Mike Hughes, I knew him from first grade at St. Bartholomew, through our days together at Central Catholic High School then through our years at LaSalle College (now University). Fred was my college roommate and dear friend. He was a rock of a friend, always there for others, always in good spirits, always trying to explain physics to me. I remember Fred and I tolling the Pa. Turnpike in an old VW that had no battery going back and forth to school; I remember how easy it was for us to transition to college life—it was like moving in with my brother—someone I trusted; I respected; I knew would figure things out. With God's grace and his family, he did. To the Frederick family—my deepest sympathies. Thank you for having Fred in your life; which I'm sure was his greatest source of pride. He was a great guy. He will be missed.

“ Tom and I were best of friends in grade school and remained close through college and grad school. The phrase "nice guy" is overused these days but Tom exemplified just that manner all the years I knew him. He will be missed. Condolences to you from the Hughes family...your family and Tom will be in our prayers.
